Light

Photography is dependent upon light and light sensitive materials for its very existence. Since the invention of photography light has been used as process & subject matter by many photographers. Light may illuminate, create shadow, be reflective as well as transform subject matter. These qualities of light can create and describe atmosphere, evoke feeling or transform subject matter.

Exploring The Expressive Qualities of Light

Shoot Specifics

Your goal for this assignment is to shoot photographs using light as the main emphasis. How you choose to capture light is up to you as the photographer. I expect to see a variety of examples of how you captured the various qualities of light using a variety of subject matter. You must use your knowledge of aperture and shutter speed within this assignment as well – it is time to start shooting like an artist – I want to see photos not only capturing light, using your aperture & shutter speed but also having artistic thought and meaning behind them (composition, focus, subject matter and creativity).

How can light be shown in a variety of ways though photography?

Light can illuminate objects

Light can create shadows
